Warren Ratchford, sophomore from Gaffney, who led the Tigers in kickoff returns as a freshman a year ago, is featured on the cover today. Ratchford was first going to be redshirted, but was brought out of retirement in the third game (Georgia Tech), only to be injured. He is lost for the season, but has been granted another year of eligibility.

They Focus On The TIGERS...

A Look At Clemson's Highly-Trained Communications Center Staff

One of the major departments at Clemson University is the Communications Center, a service-designed organization which provides all of the photographic and communication needs for the University, both on campus and throughout the state for the extension services.

The department is service-designed in that the Communications Center charges for the actual materials only, so the various departments are not charged for the job, or by the hour.

And the Center's assignments are numerous. For example, for the 1974-75 fiscal year, the Communications Center received 10,228 work orders; made 19,720 photographs and 40,810 slides; shot and processed 294,818 feet of movie film; and produced over 55 hours of TV programs and over 1700 hours of radio programs.

These assignments covered every single academic department on campus, the public relations, alumni and athletic needs, pictures and slides for graduate students' thesis requirements, student and faculty ID card pictures, and film for TV showings which covered everything from soy-bean and tobacco growth to catfish farming and shrimping.

A large portion of the assignments, of course, are for Clemson's ever-expanding athletic department, which includes 12 men's varsity teams and four women's varsity squads.

And for the athletic department, the various assignments include filming football practice sessions as well as all games for the football and basketball teams; making head and shoulder and team pictures for all 16 varsity sports; shooting intramural activities which are normally conducted at night and on the weekends; as well as processing and developing films and meeting deadlines for the various teams.

Harry Durham is the Director of the Communications Center, and he is in charge of all operations of that department.

In addition to his demanding work schedule, he recently produced educational promotion tapes which have been used for the NCAA collegiate football telecasts on the ABC Television Network.

The Associate Director of the Communications Center is Jim Burns, who spends endless hours serving both his department and the University. He can usually be found atop the press box shooting isolated film clips for the Red Parker Show.

Tom Shockley, the Assistant Director of Photographic Services, is in charge of shooting and editing the football game film for the following day's TV show, and Charles Haralson, the Supervisor of Photographic Services, shoots the coaches' film which is broken down into different reels for both the offense and the defense.

Down on the sidelines, Vince Ducker covers a considerable amount of ground throughout the football afternoon in capturing field level movies.

Then immediately following the game at home, or when the film is brought back to campus from a road trip, Clyde Leopard, the Color Processing Technician, is responsible for processing the film so Shockley can begin his task of editing it for the scheduled TV showing.

But while the movie cameras are rolling at full speed, there are five other cameras which click the action and capture the excitement on the field in the form of glossy black and white prints or color slides.

Photographers Ben Hendricks and Jim Martin are responsible for shooting first half action. They leave the game at halftime, return to the Center and develop the prints, then deliver a packet of six game action photos to each member of the working press who has requested this service. Although the majority of newspapers in South Carolina send staff photographers to cover the Tigers, it certainly makes it convenient for papers in North Carolina, Georgia, Maryland, and Virginia to be able to obtain the game action prints for publication in their respective papers.

When the action is over, Clyde Leopard processes the game film so it can be prepared and edited for the following day's Red Parker Show.

Ben Hendricks, foreground, and Jim Martin rarely see the last half of the home football games. They leave at the intermission to develop the first half action shots, then return with the packets to distribute them to the members of the news media.

Jimmy Skinner inspects a negative from one of his assignments. Often he handles the requirements for Clemson's opponent.

Bonnie Bouknight spends the majority of her work day in the darkroom printing and enlarging photographs.

Another photographer, Hal Smith, shoots the action with a polaroid camera, and Mercer Burns, a Clemson student who works with the Communications Center staff during the season, acts as the messenger and delivers the print to the coaches on the sidelines. From these prints, the grid assistants can determine what changes should be made in the Tigers' game plan.

Jimmy Skinner, a recent Clemson graduate, shoots most of the intramural assignments and handles copy work and printing, and his football afternoon duties range from sideline or crowd material to covering requests from the visiting team.

Although not a staff member of the Communications Center, Bill Cromer, the manager of Clemson's Central Printing Service, spends his day off roaming the sidelines and catching the action in the form of color slides.

But there's more to the Communications Center than these hectic Saturdays, and 40-hour weeks are rare occurrences.

Janet Pilgrim is the department's receptionist and secretary, and it's her pleasant voice or warm smile which greet the visitor or caller to the Communications Center.

Versatile Frances Holliday, a lab technician, handles everything from those duties to secretarial work. She is also responsible for all of the billing, and even though her chores are demanding and never routine, Ms. Holliday always manages a smile for the always long line of customers.

But smiles are what one has come to expect from the staff. The personable Deanna Petty, a secretary, is responsible for waiting on the customers, handing out the supplies, and billing.

Bonnie Bouknight is a lab technician, and chances are that her hands touched the majority of the 10,000 plus orders that came through the department last year.

And one very important member of the staff is the Communications Center Artist, Helen Weaver, who has drawn just about everything possible for the athletic department, including covers and player sketches for the press guides and brochures.

Earl Cosens, Al Littlejohn, Frank Nix, and Dennis Sommers, spend most of their time with the television end of the center, and all have worked with the athletic department in cutting radio tapes for a special Red Parker radio show, and others for promotional reasons.

In all that has been described, there are other areas too numerous to mention, but which occupy the days of these dedicated University employees.

Seldom do the people behind the scenes get the recognition they truly deserve, but the Tiger athletic department certainly appreciates a job well done by Clemson's Communications Center — an organization that focuses on the Tigers.

Frances Holliday and student assistant Terry Miller work on billing the more than 10,000 orders which the department received last year.

Communications Center Director Harry Durham confers with secretary Janet Pilgrim.

Student assistant Patricia Borders, left, and Deanna Petty, prepare the finished work for distribution to the various departments.

AND NOW, THE WEATHER. FAIR AND WARMER WITH A MONTEZUMA SNOWBLAST LIKELY THIS EVENING.

What better way to follow up a lot of tough, strenuous foot-ball watching than with a cool, refreshing Montezuma Snowblast? You've never heard of a Montezuma Snowblast? Well, you can find out what it is by ordering one at your favorite watering hole. Or better yet, you can make one yourself, right in your own domicile.

To make a Montezuma Snowblast, you take a large amount of subzero altocumulus clouds—no, that's not it. Here it is.

Take 1½ ounces of that noblest of tequilas—Montezuma—and set it aside. Or drink it, and set another 1½ ounces aside. Then take 12 heaping ounces of ice, fill a glass with it, pour in Montezuma and fill up the glass with Fresca,* the tangy citrusy Thirst Quencher. Quetzalcoat!! You've got an authentic Montezuma

Snowblast ready to unleash on friend and foe alike.

This recipe is void where prohibited or otherwise restricted.

Get an authentic Montezuma Snowblast T-shirt. Just look for our display at your local store. Or send $2.95 (check or M.O. only) to Borton Brands, Dept. C, 200 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago, IL 60604. Indicate S, M, L, or XL. Offer good while supply lasts. Void in any state where prohibited or restricted.

Another Stemwinder

Although Clemson holds a two to one edge (28 victories to 14 losses) against N. C. State, the Tigers haven't tasted victory since that 24-19 stemwinder at Raleigh in 1968.

The two teams did not meet in 1969 or 1970. In his year as interim coach in 1971, Al Michaels gave the Tigers a 31-23 going over here in the Valley, and since that time, Lou Holtz has found easy going against Clemson with victories which went 42-17, 29-6 and 31-10.

The current four-game winning streak which the 'Pack holds against the Tigers is the longest for N. C. State since the series started in 1899. On two previous occasions the Wolves put back-to-back victories together (1946-47 and 1963-64).

Of the previous 43 games, there has only been one tie and that was a 0-0 draw in 1906.

Clemson and State have usually played it close to the vest. Nineteen of the games have been decided by a touchdown or less. The Tigers' biggest margin of victory has been 27 points (1930 & 1950) while State's 21-point triumph last year has been its largest spread.

Fifteen times Clemson has claimed a shutout and State has returned the favor five times, but there hasn't been a blanking by either team since the 1964 season, but it seems that since that time the two teams have been more offensively-minded than defensively.

In the last eight games, there have been more points scored than in the 18 before that. The fewest points scored in those last eight games came in 1967 in Death Valley, with Clemson winning, 14-6. That was the day the Tiger defensive team came out wearing orange shoes after the 'Pack had gained some notoriety by wearing white shoes all year.

The temperature was 68 degrees at kickoff, but what was unusual about the day was the wind coming straight out of the west. It was measured at 16 miles an hour with gusts of 25-30 mph. So important was the wind factor was that Clemson won the toss and elected to kickoff.

The Tigers missed a field goal with the wind, but State's Gerald Warren booted two within a span of two minutes, 45 seconds — one of 37 yards and one of 47 — to give the 'Pack a 6-0 halftime lead.

The Wolfpack surprised everyone by electing to receive the second half kickoff which gave Clemson the wind to its back. And the Tigers made the best of it.

After holding the first series of downs, Clemson took the ball behind the running of Buddy Gore and the passing of Jimmy Addison to go 55 yards in seven plays to score, the payoff coming on a 28-yard pass from Addison to Gore. Arthur Craig's PAT put the Tigers ahead to stay.

But the Tigers came back in their next possession to add an insurance score on a seven-yard scamper around right end by Jacky Jackson.

N. C. State fans will still tell you that this loss knocked them out of a Sugar Bowl trip. In the first eight games that season, the 'Pack was unstoppable walking over North Carolina, Buffalo, Florida State, Houston, Maryland, Wake Forest, Duke and Virginia.

But the week before coming to Death Valley, State lost to Penn State, 13-8, in a game that should have gone State's way.

Two people who made the Clemson-N. C. State series a headliner were the two former head coaches at the respective institutions. Earle Edwards (left) coached the Wolfpack from 1954 through 1970 and Frank Howard (right) was at Clemson from 1940 through 1969. Many a barb was passed by these two during their coaching careers.

However, despite losses in the final two regular season games, N. C. State did accept a bid to the Liberty Bowl and brought back a 14-7 victory over Georgia.

But probably the most exciting game of the entire series came the following year (1968) in Carter Stadium in Raleigh. Anyone who stayed in the parking lot to tailgate one more chicken leg missed two of the prettiest plays of the day.

After Sonny Cassady kicked off in the end zone for the Tigers, Bobby Hall went off his right side for 80 yards to score for State with only 14 seconds gone in the game.

On the ensuing kickoff, Buddy Gore took it at the Tiger two and went 76 yards to the State 22 before being hauled down. Clemson scored five plays later on a seven-yard pass from Billy Ammons to Jim Sursavage.

That was two touchdowns in two minutes, 29 seconds, and the 31,000 on hand, as well as the regional TV audience knew more was in store — and it was.

Ammons scored again for the Tigers midway of the second period and Gerald Warren booted a 29-yard field goal for a 14-10 Tiger halftime lead.

Jimmy Barnette gave Clemson three more points in the third period, but all the action was left for the last 4:02 of the game.

At this point Ammons was thrown for a safety to cut Clemson's lead to 17-12, and State took the free kick from the Tiger 46 to score in three plays. A bomb from Jack Ray Yauger (No. 34) was the leading ground gainer in 1968 when Clemson came from behind to down the Wolfpack, 24-19 in Raleigh. Yauger scored the winning TD with 53 seconds remaining and had 88 yards on 23 attempts on the afternoon.

Klebe to Jimmy Lisk for 47 yards gave State a 19-17 lead.

The kickoff put Clemson at its 31 with 2:20 left. Ammons connected with Jack Anderson twice, one for 20 and another for 12 yards. After an incomplection, Charlie Waters made an almost unbelievable catch at the State 12.

Ray Yauger then carried three straight times, the last one for seven yards and a score with 53 seconds left. The Tigers had gone 69 yards in seven plays in a minute and 27 seconds for the winning score.

State entered the game with a 5-2 mark while Clemson was struggling at 1-4-1. The 'Pack went on to win the conference championship with a 6-1 mark and Clemson was second at 4-1-1.

And that's just about the way these two teams have battled down through the years for the title. Of the 17 outright championships won, Clemson has five of them and State four. The Tigers have one co-championship and the 'Pack two.

As for the series since the Atlantic Coast Conference was formed, State and Clemson are knotted at eight wins apiece.

And even though the two teams enter today's game with a combined 4-9 mark, it's easy to see by the turnout that another titantic struggle is anticipated. Clemson and N. C. State fans are no different from any other fans. They like to see their teams win. But they also appreciate good football. And that's why Death Vally is standing on edge once more.

Tony Barchuk (No. 35 in white) was N. C. State's leading ground gainer in 1967 when Clemson rallied in the second half to win, 14 to 6. The Brooklyn, N. Y., senior ground out 62 yards on 22 carries that wind-swept day.

We're looking for certain majors to become Lieutenants.

Mechanical and civil engineering majors ... aerospace and aeronautical engineering majors ... majors in electronics ... computer science ... mathematics.

The Air Force needs people ... many with the above academic majors. And AFROTC has several different programs where you can fit ... 4-year, 3-year, or 2-year programs. Some offering full scholarships. All offering $100 a month allowance during the last two years of the program. Flying opportunities. And all leading to an Air Force officer's commission, plus advanced education.

If you'd like to cash in on these Air Force benefits, start by looking into the Air Force ROTC.

Put it all together in Air Force ROTC.

Memorial Stadium and exciting football is a tradition at Clemson University. The enthusiastic support for Clemson athletics by students, alumni and friends reflects this tradition in a most positive manner. It is a tradition which we wear with pride, one which we warmly share with you this Saturday afternoon in welcoming you to campus.

If you'll get to know us better you'll find we have other equally long-standing traditions . . . other traditions of continuing commitment and meaning.

One which will impress you immediately is Clemson's tradition of concern for people. Clemson is no Ivory Tower University. Its heartbeat is always alert to people's needs; its pulse renders service in all 46 counties of South Carolina. That's what this University has been about for more than 80 years. This commitment was first made for us by our founder, Thomas Green Clemson, who almost a century ago saw the great need in this State for a scientifically oriented institution of higher learning that would provide our young people with the training needed to build a better society.

As the years passed, the scope and mission of Clemson's services to the State and Nation have enlarged. Institutions — like individuals — do not stand still. Clemson is engaged in teaching, research and public service in those areas associated with a land-grant institution actively seeking to meet the needs of the people it serves. As their needs vary or change, Clemson adjusts its capabilities for service. Today, as we watch the football game, this University is responding to a wide range of problems affecting South Carolinians and people everywhere. It is a people-to-people commitment to which Clemson and its resources are totally dedicated.

Exciting football is the basic character of Memorial Stadium; relating to people is the basic character of Clemson University.

Let's make getting together a tradition. We'll learn a lot from each other. This is your campus. Come back as often as possible.

Athletic Director — BILL McLELLAN

A man for all seasons is Bill McLellan, a 43-year old native of Hamer, S. C., who has crossed every plateau in Clemson's rapidly expanding athletic program. And since he assumed the top position in the department over four years ago, Clemson athletics and excellence have been synonymous.

One might say that Clemson has been McLellan's home for 25 years, because since his graduation from high school he's been in Tigertown.

First, as a student-athlete when he played for the legendary Frank Howard. And during his undergraduate days, McLellan earned a pair of grid letters and was a member of Clemson's 1952 Gator Bowl team. He graduated from the University in 1954.

Two years later he earned his master's in agricultural economics, and the following two years he served the school in that department.

McLellan's second and long-lasting association with Clemson's athletic family began May 1, 1958, when he was appointed assistant business manager.

Although he held that title until 1966, McLellan served the athletic department in almost every imaginable area—from ticket managing and distribution, ordering and maintaining the equipment for all sports, and when the regular office staff turned out their lights upon completion of another day's work, McLellan journeyed out to the football field where he assisted his former coach with the grid duties.

In 1966, McLellan was appointed assistant athletic director, was named associate athletic director a couple of years later, and on Feb. 4, 1971, became the school's third director of athletics.

And it's been since that latter date that Clemson's athletic program has made tremendous strides.

Under McLellan's leadership, the entire athletic family relocated in the modern Frank Johnstone Jervy Center on West campus, and it's in this eye-catching structure where the dedicated Tiger AD makes his daily decisions in an effort to keep Clemson in the national limelight.

McLellan has directed improvements in all athletic areas, from aluminum seats for spectator comfort in Clemson Memorial Stadium to the most recent improvement in the program—the completion of the eight-lane swimming pool and the separate diving tank in Fike Recreation Center.

Certainly the men's varsity program speaks for itself—like the football team recording its best record a year ago since a 9-2 finish in 1959, and like the basketball team achieving its first-ever national ranking and making its first-ever trip to post-season tournament play, and like the soccer team recording its third straight ACC crown and third straight berth to the NCAA playoffs, and like the baseball team experiencing its 18th consecutive winning campaign on its way to the NCAA playoffs.

However, McLellan has directed his efforts to the overall program, including the intramural department for Clemson faculty, staff, and students alike, and the most recent addition of a women's athletic program.

A year ago, the former was in its second year of a five-year McLellan-engineered plan, as the intramural department had grown to the point that it now requires four full-time staff directors.

And last year, the Tigers fielded women's teams in fencing, swimming and tennis, with the latter posting a fine 10-2 record. Then this winter, a Clemson women's basketball team will join that trio.

So it's been a constant climb by Clemson's athletic program under the leadership of Bill McLellan, and a climb that will certainly continue as the Tigers seek an overall program second to none.

McLellan is married to the former Ann Rogers of Fork, and they have two daughters, Suzy, a sophomore at Winthrop, and Arch Anna, and two sons, Bill and Cliff.

Head Football Coach—RED PARKER

1974 Atlantic Coast Conference and South Carolina Coach-of-the-Year

In just two short years at Clemson University, Red Parker has given Tiger fans something to howl about. And whereas the howl from Tigertown has been a pleasant one, a howl of reverent awe has been heard from Clemson opponents.

Because in those two years—1973 and 1974—Parker's Tigers have netted almost 8,000 yards of total offense, and have scored more points (477) than Clemson managed in 34 previous games (475) prior to his arrival at Tigertown.

And last fall, in just his sophomore campaign, Parker led Clemson to its best finish with a 7-4 won-lost figure since the 1959 Bluebonnet Bowl Tigers posted a 9-2 slate.

Along the way the Tigers knocked off a pair of opponents who would go on to post-season bowl affairs, and because of Clemson's tie for second place in the Atlantic Coast Conference, the Redhead was tabbed as both the league's and State of South Carolina's Coach-of-the-Year in 1974.

A native of Hampton, Ark., Parker was a standout in football, baseball, and track at Arkansas A&M, graduating in 1953.

After a couple of months in a summer baseball league, the Redhead was appointed prep mentor at Fordyce, Ark., High School, a school that was experiencing the misfortune of a 22-game grid losing streak.

But in eight seasons with Parker at the helm, Fordyce lost but a dozen games on its way to an impressive 75-12-4 record which included a 37-game winning streak.

In 1961 Parker returned to his alma mater as head coach, remaining there for five seasons. During his stay, A&M posted a 29-19-2 record, including a 24-5-1 ledger from 1963-65, and a pair of league titles.

Meanwhile, The Citadel had launched a search for a head coach who had a winning tradition, and that's how the Redhead became a Palmetto State resident.

And from 1966 through 1972, the Bulldogs established themselves as one of the most respected and dangerous grid teams in the Southern Conference, all because Parker introduced the veer offense to the area, and it didn't take long to leave its mark.

The 1971 Cadet squad raced to a fine 8-3 record, scored 366 points, and chalked up over 5,000 yards of total offense that season which ranked The Citadel as the nation's fourth-leading producer of real estate.

Parker's seven-year stand in Charleston gave the Bulldogs a 39-34 won-lost column.

His fourth head coaching position in as many schools is the one for which Tiger followers are grateful, because in December of 1972, the Smilin' Redhead became Clemson's 19th head coach.

Armed with his potent veer offense, Parker's enthusiasm and determination to make the Tigers a winner resulted in a 5-6 record his first season at Clemson and a third place finish in the ACC behind bowl-bound N. C. State and Maryland.

And last season's 7-4 record gave the Redhead a two-year Clemson mark of 12-10, and a 14-year head coaching record of 80-63-2 in the college ranks.

Prior to his initial grid campaign at Clemson, Parker promised to leave no stone unturned nor any avenue unexplored in an effort to put the Tigers' football fortunes along side of the country's top powers.

For the past two seasons, the Tigers' football fortunes have definitely been on the upswing. And if his past record is any indication of what to expect, then Parker's Tigers should continue to show improvement with each grid campaign.

Parker and his wife, the former Betty Goggans of Rison, Ark., have three children—Mrs. Vicki Wallace; Cindy, a student at Clemson; and Jim Mack.

Parker and '74 Tig Quarterback Mark Fellers discuss strategy.

An extra paycheck every month...that's one of the benefits of the Air Force Reserve. And as your rank goes up, so does the amount of that paycheck. All we ask of your time is one weekend a month and two weeks active duty during the year.

There are low-cost insurance plans, retirement benefits. An opportunity to learn a new skill or maybe sharpen up the one you used to have in the service. And the new faces and experiences of a Reserve weekend could be just the change you need in your regular routine.

If you had prior service bring yourself and your experience back to the Air Force Reserve. You'll benefit and so will the country. So, if you are between the ages of 17-34, call toll free 800-447-4700 (in Illinois call 800-322-4400) for the location of your nearest Air Force Reserve recruiter. Or, just send in the coupon.

WEBSTER'S DICTIONARY describes the Tiger as "a large tawny black-striped Asiatic flesh-eating mammal related to the cat." And the largest and what is probably the best specimen in captivity in the Palmetto State is Boris - a Siberian Tiger which is housed at the Columbia Zoological Park.

Prior to the 1970 football season, the Tiger Paw was adopted to help distinguish the Clemson Tiger from the many other Tigers at schools such as Auburn, Princeton, LSU, Memphis State and Missouri. It did not serve as a replacement to the Tiger, but as something to go along with our Clemson Tiger.

ANOTHER RECORD FOR IPTAY

For the first time in history, Clemson IPTAY members contributed over three quarters of a million dollars to the Clemson athletic program for the fiscal year of 1974-75.

The highly-successful 12 month period also marked the 11th consecutive year that IPTAY funds had increased over the previous year.

Altogether, $854,500 were contributed by 10,706 individuals and business firms. This represented 114 per cent of the goal set by the officers and directors.

The State of South Carolina reached 115 per cent of its goal, North Carolina netted 108 per cent, Georgia 117 and the remaining states 108.

Breaking down the various categories, final figures show there were 7,360 $20 IPTAY members, 2,193 who were $100 Gold Carders, 750 in the $250 Gold Card listing, 281 who were $500 Gold Cards, 84 who were a Tiger Donor ($1,000) and 38 who were Scholarship Donors ($2,000).

Kershaw County paced the Palmetto State by making 146 per cent of its goal. In second place was Allendale County with 138 per cent, third spot went to Berkeley with 132 per cent and with 127 per cent in fourth place was Newberry County.

Rounding out the top counties were Calhoun and Hampton, each with 125 per cent; Dorchester, Lexington, Greenville and Charleston Counties with 124 per cent each; and Anderson with 123 per cent.

Again, Greenville County raised the largest contributions of any other county in the state with $132,790, nearly twice as much as Richland's $66,560.

The Top Ten was rounded out with Anderson ($61,140), Pickens ($59,360), Spartanburg ($53,590), Greenwood ($24,030), Florence ($23,910), Lexington ($22,630), Orangeburg ($19,110) and Charleston ($17,580).

IPTAY was organized in 1934 by the late Dr. Ruppert H. (Rube) Fike with one purpose in mind—to finance athletic scholarships for Clemson's intercollegiate program. And since that time, not one single penny has gone for anything else other than scholarships for Clemson athletics. This year there will be 12 sports in the program as the Tigers will field a wrestling team for the first time.

Thousands of student-athletes have received an education through IPTAY, which may not have been possible otherwise. And many of these athletes have brought honor to themselves and Clemson by being named to All-America, all-conference and all-state teams. In 20 years existence of the Atlantic Coast Conference, the Tigers have won 13 outright conference championships and shared another.

Membership in IPTAY is open to anyone interested in helping Clemson students who participate in one or more of the 12 sports which the Tigers field. Gifts to IPTAY are matched by most matching gift companies.

IPTAY members receive ticket priority in football and basketball over everybody else, and season ticket IPTAY orders are always filled first.

Forest Hughes, Jr., of Winnsboro served as IPTAY president in the just passed record-breaking year. Serving with him were George Poole, Jr., of Mullins as vice president and Reeves Gressette, Jr., of Orangeburg as secretary-treasurer. These same officers were re-elected in August to serve another year.

ACC Viewpoints: Being The Wife Of A Head Football Coach

MRS. CHUCK (BARBARA) MILLS, Wake Forest—"Having been a coach's wife for 20 years, I have found that it is no different than being the wife of someone in any other profession. Possibly a coach's life is a little more public, thus our personal life remains a little more private. I do not try to share the spotlight with Chuck because what he has to say about football and coaching is what is important. Not how I feel. On the other hand, when I was in business my opinions were those that were important. Overall, I do not attract any special significance to being a coach's wife, and do not see why it should be any different than being the wife of anyone else."

MRS. BILL (CHRIS) DOOLEY, North Carolina—"I think it's very exciting. I especially enjoy the travel and getting to meet so many people. But Bill and I have an agreement. He's the football coach and I'm a housewife. When he comes home, we rarely ever discuss football and I have never tried to be a Monday morning quarterback. I think he prefers it that way. He spends his entire business day talking football. So when he's with me, we enjoy discussing other subjects. I think one of the great advantages of being married to a football coach is that you get to live in a college community. I associate with a lot of young people on the Carolina campus and I think this tends to keep me thinking young."

MRS. MIKE (GINGER) MCGEE, Duke—"There's no question that being the wife of a football coach has its peculiar trials and tribulations, but for the most part, I consider it a joy and a privilege. It's a life of emotional extremes and variety. I'm able to share in the goals and efforts of my husband, and this means a great deal to our family. Getting to know the players and following them from recruiting through graduation is one of the special pleasures. I'm able to observe as they grow, mature and become contributors to our team. To see them mesh together in unselfishness and determination each week is a beautiful event to me. Even though most of the time I have to share Mike's involvement and commitment from afar, my strong belief in what he's trying to accomplish makes it all worthwhile."

MRS. LOU (BETH) HOLTZ, N. C. State—"I don't feel that being the wife of a football coach is very different than being anyone else's wife, but then I haven't been married to anyone else. The nicest things are probably the opportunity for travel and the countless friends we have made all over the country through coaching. I go to all the home games, but just as a fan. I don't feel that I'm on essential part of the team's winning or losing, so I don't make many of the road trips. Also, as a mother of four, I'm needed at home most of the time when the team is traveling. At home, win or lose, we try to keep things on an even keel because it's the best atmosphere for the children. It's easy to maintain a good attitude as a wife of a football coach . . . because life is really pretty pleasant."

MRS. JERRY (FAYE) CLAIBORNE, Maryland—"The wife of a head football coach lives a life no different from that of any other woman whose husband is totally dedicated to his work. Your life is one of extremes. You share with your husband the elation and sense of achievement and you share the disappointment and frustrations. You experience a sense of satisfaction watching 18-year-old boys gain the self-confidence and maturity they will need to succeed when they leave school four years later as young men. However, there is also the added responsibility of sometimes being the only visible parent to your own children because of the long hours your husband must spend away from home. It isn't all excitement and pageantry, at the same time it is never routine or humdrum and I wouldn't trade with anyone."

MRS. SONNY (JUDY) RANDLE, Virginia—"Judy Randle is no ordinary person, nor is her husband, Virginia Head Coach Sonny Randle. Nevertheless, the two are so much alike, it would probably be a virtual standoff if she held a Monday press conference opposite her husband's. Her eventual response to the subject, "Being The Wife Of A Head Football Coach" would possibly go something like the following and would certainly be much longer than the initial reaction. "During the actual season," the former Judith Harvelle Bronsford of Cohasset, Va., might comment, "being the wife of Sonny Randle is analogous to living in an express elevator—one of those gloss or cog-type contraptions that are on the outside of those architectural monstrosities. And, during recruiting, it's like being married to the Phantom." You see, like her husband, she tells it like it is!

MRS. J. D. (BETTY) PARKER, Clemson—"Football has been an exciting, sometimes hectic, yet always rewarding part of the Parker family since 1953. Our children have always been loyal supporters of their daddy's teams, and this common rally point has drawn our family closer together. I have found myself feeling the supreme elation of victory as well as the crush of defeat, but the sum total of our lives in football has been extremely satisfying. Probably my greatest task is to help Jimmy (our families are the only ones who don't call him 'Red') forget football related problems when he comes home. He is so deeply involved with his players, that this is not always easy to do, nonetheless I believe that this is largely my responsibility. Our great rewards have been in the relationships which we have enjoyed with the people associated with football. The players, the parents, the other coaches, the fans, and the students, each in their own way have enriched our lives from the very beginning. From a wife's standpoint, I can say without hesitation that our life in football has been both satisfying and complete."

The faster it spins, the more you spend.

The purpose of that rotating disk on your electric meter is to measure the amount of power being used.

The more you're using, the faster it goes. And the higher your monthly bill will be.

Keep that in mind. And use electricity wisely.

Because whenever you waste power, you waste money.

A County Agent Goes Urban

By Harold Rogers
Extension Editor

Greenville County Agent Ken Palmer checks late-season okra with Mrs. Amber Batson, resident of Scott Towers. Extension agents helped senior citizens of the residential center organize and plant their own vegetable gardens.

Associate Agent Howard Oates, left, and Palmer discuss cattle problems with Dr. George Campbell of Mauldin where he raises a Shorthorn beef herd. Agricultural production still gets major interest in Greenville County.

It was in the planting season and maybe a typical Tuesday morning in the Greenville County office of the Clemson University Cooperative Extension Service.

Assistant county agent Sam Cheatham was on the phone with a gardener who wanted to know what he could put on his strawberries to kill weeds.

How many did he have? The caller was asked.

"Weeds?"

"No, strawberry plants."

"Oh, one row in the garden."

Cheatham asked for a minute and put the phone aside to check a publication. He stuck his head into an adjoining office where county agent Ken Palmer squirmed in his chair trying to do three things at once while talking with a visitor. "We don't recommend a weed killer for strawberries, not where they've just got one row?" Cheatham asked.

Palmer twisted around. "No. Not an area that small. It's better if he does it by hand." The caller got his answer. The county agent went back to a piled up desk, still talking about trying to be all things to all people. The phone call was one of maybe a hundred the staff would answer that day. The Extension home economists would get their share also.

On this morning, Howard Oates, associate county agent, was out helping a dairyman on plans to pasteurize his milk and offer it on a cash-and-carry basis for area residents. Cheatham was on the phone with a gardener. Assistant county agent Claude Smith was on another. Both had to go to Clemson later in the day for 4-H horse training. They spend maybe 60 per cent of their time working with 4-H youths in the county.

Palmer had mail to go over, a nine o'clock appointment, a 10 a.m. date to speak to a club on vegetable gardening, a Rotary Club meeting at one o'clock, and a 4 p.m. radio interview. In between, there was

"some correspondence I've got to do," and demands for figuring with a county beef producer who wanted Clemson to help with a decision on whether he should get out of the business or not. An Extension beef specialist had been called to come over for a joint visit with the producer.

In their increasingly urbanized county of 276,000 people where agriculture is still important, the Greenville Extension office has been forced to redirect priorities. Emphasis now is on a clinical approach, mass meetings to reach more people with all the educational information Extension provides.

Early in the year, Palmer had a meeting on field crops and farm production. Seventy farmers attended. Specialists from Extension's headquarters staff at Clemson came in and spoke: the agronomists, pathologist, entomologist, agricultural engineer, and all the others who review for producers Clemson's latest research and recommendations.

To meet escalating calls for homeowner help, the county agent arranged a Spring basic landscaping clinic for the public at Greenville TEC. It drew 361 people. A later vegetable gardening clinic brought an overflow of 600 "and maybe a couple of hundred we had to turn away."

Probably the biggest happening of the year in clinics comes each year in May with an all-day plant problem clinic at McAlister Square. The specialist staff is there and the public is invited in with plant problems, soil samples, insects, "or any other problems of this kind they have," Palmer says. Last year: 5,000 problems.

The staff also emphasizes mass-media communication to support the clinics, programs, and general Extension programs.

Palmer's weekly Monday morning column in the daily newspaper goes to maybe a quarter-million readers. Special news releases, radio spots, mailed newsletters and two programs monthly on a weekly TV series are part of the approach. One of the most popular outlets, Palmer feels, are radio chats with an area broadcast personality. "Anytime I have something we need to get before the people, I call Monty DuPuy and we have a radio chat."

The services are different from Palmer's early years with Extension nearly two decades ago after graduation from Clemson. "Our work used to be almost 100 per cent with farmers," he says. "Now we're spending at least 80 per cent of our time with urban residents. It's just skyrocketing."

Soil samples, alone, he says, could keep one man busy. "We've had 2,088 soil samples since July. We led the state last year in the number sent to Clemson. And we don't push soil samples—we don't take any. We just handle what comes in."

With all the demands, Palmer—who may wear a coat and tie in the morning for a ladies' club talk and get into working boots for an afternoon visit in a cattle lot—battles to see that agriculture gets what it must have.

"We have more farming in Greenville County than most people realize," he says. "We grossed close to $9 million last year and had the largest livestock association in the state. I get out with our farmers when I can, and I always tell them that if they have a problem to call me. Clemson is here to help them; we'll see that they get attention."

CLEMSON

*Alumni Loyalty Fund—
Many Things To Many People*

They are doctors, lawyers, teachers, farmers, businesspersons, military strategists, public servants. They have a lot going for them. They have an opportunity to grow. And their roots are here on this campus. They are former students of this institution in the foothills of South Carolina.

Clemson University has been involved in providing one of this nation's most vital commodities since 1893. Yet, the educational capabilities of Clemson continue to mount, and the University has a vibrant incentive to demonstrate its ability, and an objective yardstick to measure it.

As Clemson University continues its contribution to the development of this state, it remains an indispensable part of its future. Combine capacity, ability and opportunity and you conclude that potential is virtually unlimited.

It is, with your help. Graduates, former students and friends of Clemson are not only a source of pride for the University but a monumental strength in undergirding its educational programs with annual investments in the institution through the Clemson Alumni Loyalty Fund and other development opportunities at the University.

But greater challenges lie ahead. Knowledge has multiplied beyond comprehension; the domestic and world situations have become unwieldy and precarious. To make sure performance measures up to potential, Clemson University utilizes wisely and frugally every source of aid possible from all sectors of a free society — private citizens and foundations, business and industrial organizations, state and federal governments.

Now, more than ever before, Clemson needs you, your interest, and your investment in education. Now, more than ever before, won't you consider what you can do for Clemson?

Clemson played before almost a half-million football fans last fall, and 251,424 of those grid boosters saw the Tigers' six home games in 1974, for an average of 41,904 per game. The largest home crowd a year ago was the 52,667 total that watched as Clemson whipped arch-rival South Carolina 39-21, and that marked the second largest home crowd ever.

ARA-Slater's philosophy is a unique, systematic approach designed to achieve our most important goal: STUDENT SATISFACTION. This concept is a result of our experience with millions of students. We have the flexibility to understand your needs and the capability to satisfy them.

At Clemson, ARA demonstrates practical, new methods for providing nourishing, well-balanced meals to athletes, students and staff. Our corporate and regional specialists give ARA's dining service manager expert advice in planning menus, purchasing goods, controlling waste, utilizing labor. The support of this team effort is carried out daily in Schilletter Hall and Harcombe Commons, and at the Clemson House Buffeteria. It is our desire to serve students what they want and to accommodate them by providing this same efficient service for special events or festive holiday meals.

We're here to provide the type of service that will benefit the entire school and community. THAT'S WHAT WE THINK A DINING SERVICE IS ALL ABOUT.

Homecoming at Tigertown is always a festive and fun-packed weekend. In addition to the all-student productions at Tigerama the night before the game, the fraternities provide the campus with attractive displays, like the one above which honors Red Parker, the 1974 Atlantic Coast Conference and State of South Carolina Coach-of-the-Year.

Modern-day times came to our Clemson Tiger last fall. In the 1974 finale against South Carolina, the Tiger jumped on a Honda and led Red Parker's gridders down the hill in Death Valley, much to the pleasure of 52,667 fans.

Where the Action is!

When the name of the game is service, you have to be where the action is!

For textiles, the action is in the southeast, and that's why we have just completed a major expansion of our Southeast District Office in Charlotte. Every aspect of this facility — technical service laboratories, warehouse, distribution and customer service — has been expanded and modernized. Where the action is — that's where you will find Sandoz with the service you need, when you need it, and where you need it.

Why not see for yourself?

Come and visit us, and see what the newest in textile customer service facilities can do for you, and why you too will consider us your partner in wet processing operations.

1975-76 CLEMSON BASKETBALL

TIGER OUTLOOK

Nine returning lettermen are back in camp from last year's Clemson basketball team, one that many felt was the best ever in the school's history, as Bill Foster enters his initial year at the Tiger helm.

Heading the list is 7-1 junior center Tree Rollins, a second team All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection last winter who led the league in both rebounding (11.7) and blocked shots (11.9).

Rollins gained some international experience for the second consecutive summer as a member of the first Intercontinental Cup Basketball Team, and then spent the middle part of October in Mexico City at the Pan Am Games.

Last year Clemson raced to a fine 17-11 record, posted its best regular season ACC finish ever with a second place tie, earned its first national ranking ever in both wire service polls, and advanced to its first post-season berth ever with an NIT bid.

But Foster is absent three starters from that team in Jo Jo Bethea and Wayne Croft, both of whom graduated, and Skip Wise, who inked a multi-year three-quarter of a million dollar contract with the Baltimore franchise of the ABA.

Returning with Rollins as a starter is Stan Rome (10.4), who spent the fall with the football team.

Other lettermen back are Colon Abraham (7.1), David Brown (2.9), Jimmy Howell (2.5), and Andy Butchko at the forward spots, and Bruce Harman (1.7) and John Franken (3.0) in the backcourt.

Charlie Rogers (3.9) has served as backup to Rollins for the past two seasons, and he's ready for more duty at center.

Freshmen signees include 6-3 Greg Coles of East Elm-hurst, N. Y., 6-7 Marvin Dickerson of Charleston, and 6-2 Derrick Johnson of Indianapolis, Ind.

The Tigers are talented, however, young — three freshmen, three sophomores, four juniors, and only two seniors. But Foster is working for the right blend to keep Clemson's cage fortunes on a national level of prominence.

IPTAY-- Special Recognition

For the 11th straight year, contributions made to the Clemson IPTAY Club showed an increase over the previous 12 months. Altogether, 10,706 individuals and firms contributed $854,500, which was 114 per cent of the quota initially set.

South Carolina made 115 per cent of its goal, North Carolina 108, Georgia 117 and the remaining states 108.

This was the first time over three quarters of a million dollars was realized and the fourth straight year over a half million dollars came in. Every penny received by IPTAY since its beginning in 1934 has been used for athletic scholarships only.

On the following pages, we have listed those people and business organizations, who are being recognized by their permission, for their interest and continued support of IPTAY.

BEFORE LONG, PEOPLE ARE GOING TO BE TALKING ABOUT LOAD-BEARING BRICK IN THE SAME BREATH WITH MOM'S APPLE PIE.

Given today's economy, architects and builders are going to be praising load-bearing brick for years to come. Because, all things being equal, you can put up a building faster with load-bearing brick than concrete and steel. And you can put it up for less money. And you don't sacrifice a thing aesthetically.

At Richtex, we're uniquely equipped to help you take advantage of the boom in bearing-wall construction, because we've got a newly automated plant that can turn out all the big brick you need.

So give us a call. And find out what's cooking at Richtex. P.O. Box 3307, Columbia, South Carolina 29230 (803) 786-1260. RICHTEX

The new Firestone Tire & Rubber Company Plant in Wilson, N.C.

Built with P-R-I-D-E

YEARGIN CONSTRUCTION COMPANY

At Yeargin we take pride in our work. And we are especially proud of the new steel belted radial passenger tire plant we built for Firestone at Wilson, North Carolina. More than 1,600,000 square feet.

As the builder of this new facility, we handled all aspects of construction with our own craftsmen and supervision — civil, mechanical, and electrical. And we completed the work in record time. The first tire was produced only 8 1/2 months after the ground-breaking in June, 1973.

When you think construction, think Yeargin. We can build it fast; we can save you money; and our quality of workmanship is second to none.
